

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER**
Cibola Water (AZ0415123), La Paz County
Has Levels of Total Trihalomethanes Above Drinking Water Standards

Our water system recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct this situation.

We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Monitoring results for water samples collected 03/11/2026 show that the contaminant concentration from all sampling locations in our water system exceeded the standard, or maximum contaminant level (MCL), for Total Trihalomethanes (TTHMs).

The MCL for Total Trihalomethanes is 80 parts per billion (ppb). The sample taken on 03/11/2026 was 203 ppb. The running annual average for total trihalomethanes is 84 ppb.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. However, some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous system, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

What should I do?

- You do not need to boil your water or use an alternative water supply.
- If you have specific health concerns, you may wish to consult your doctor.

What is being done?

The District is arranging for the purchase of some pre-filtration units, which based upon technical review by the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality should help improve the performance of the filtration system and reduce the Total Trihalomethane concentrations.

Additionally, Cactus State is on site and reviewing the water treatment plant and is in the process of making other improvements to enable it to more efficiently treat the incoming raw water.

Please share this information with all the other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this notice directly (i.e., people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.

This notice is being sent to you by Cactus State for Cibola Water System ID# AZ0415123.

Date Distributed: 4/21/2026